

I dreamed of being on a lunch line with lots of baby back ribs. I got onions and peppers with tongs.

My friend's dad was singing a song. I also remember taking a test in class. I felt like it was my last semester of college. I was failing the class.

My paper got a 35 or something like that.
"Oh, no," I thought. "I will have to come back another semester to re take this class."

I also remember fighting this alien thing around a place with buildings and trucks...
But couldn't remember more details about that.

I had another dream in a church service. A man walked in front of the church in the middle of the service. Did a bow thing and went out the door again.

I dreamed a woman was teaching me to solder. Also, i thought she liked me. But the main thing was she was helping me prepare to get a job.

I took some steps to prepare a room for my interview.

I wanted to spray one room clean. It had mattresses against the wall. I felt embarrassed that the room wasn't set up, even though they were the ones supposed to be setting it up. (I was not an employee yet)

I dreamed of playing a Pokemon game. It was like going near Mr. Pokemons house.

Only this time, as I walked, I could walk on thin air. But then bridges would appear under my feet. I got into this cave with treasure chests.

After that there was a scene of star fox and some other guys fighting. Star fox got defeated at first, but then absorbed purple energy from the enemies, and gained the advantage.

Then a scene of people in a lobby. Some grey, some colored, like they do in cartoons. I dreamed of a dog that was brown at some moments but white at others.

I went to pet its head but wasn't supposed to. Only pet its neck. Okay. Then dreamed of people with 405 on a barbell. The barbell turned out to be elastic though.

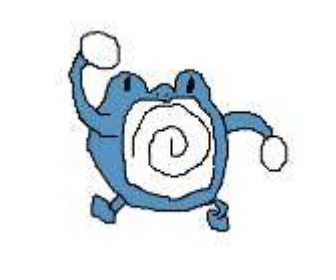

In another part of the dream, I was at a restaurant. One of my Uncle's friends was there. I drew a really cool picture using colored pencils. It came together as a very colorful image.

When I showed it to people, I said that when I had finished it, I felt total bliss. But that doesn't mean everyone who sees it will automatically feel bliss.

I also dreamed of a cartoon Pokemon battle.

It seemed to be done in MS Paint. The 6 Pokemon were all up against each other at once instead of one or two at a time.

My recall seemed a little lower tonight. I think I slept deeper, which is good.