

Last night I got 5 good rounds of dreams.
First time I woke up heres what I remembered.

Sonic style video game. It led to a Doctor Robotnik battle where Sonic had to jump in the silver egg hovercrafts and then shoot lasers at the other ones.

After that some of my friends were there.
Vegeta was there too. I said something about Vegeta being nice.

Then there were two people who did a visible astral projection thing. They danced in a line. But there was music that annoyed me. Some rap instrumental with heavy bass. I quickly turned it off. Then the screen showed some different looking creatures.

3 were standing in a line while another faced them and scolded them. They seemed like villains. After that I was battling Kid Buu and Frieza.

I remember something in a grocery store. Something in water, and something to do with twisty crayons. Like a pink twisty crayon could give Buu more power or something. I think eventually the fight ended.

I was dreaming a lot about intactivism. In this part I felt like I was debating my sister about it. Then it showed this wall of text she was typing.

It showed how she could show all the hidden formatting symbols. I thought that would help her document. She cut up a little thing of post its to use for writing. I remember some words in a column.

I think that was it for that one, and I woke up. Had decent dream recall there and got back to sleep easily.

I think my first recalled memory was something with a sword fish. I remember more going on about intactivism. I was walking through the trail at the local arboretum but it was a little different.

I was thinking how it was a bit warm but I could go for a walk. I felt better as I walked because it had been a few days since I walked. I turned around and there was a guy going pee on a tree (I saw him from behind so no exposure!) But I turned the other way again to give him privacy.

Then when I figured he was done, I walked the other way again. There was an outdoor tennis or basketball court thing. I thought I smelled smoke, and my anger came up. I ran ahead and it turned out it was coming from this bodybuilder guy ahead of me. He had a cigar. I yelled, "Stop Smoking!" and ran the other way.

Well, this guy was angry. He told me, "Stay here." And I was like, "No, I'm not waiting around while you smoke." I ran.

A younger bodybuilder dude in maroon chased after me. He was trying to convince me to come back to where they were. I was sure it was so they could beat me up. I just kept running.

I woke up and recorded those. Had to do a little exercise for my RLS but fell asleep again. I became lucid in the local grocery store.

I forgot what triggered it. But I walked through there and out. I wanted to play along with the dream. I went to a group of people with a convertible and made friends.

One fellow said his name was Peter. We drove out of there. I remember reaching out and touching the green street signs.

Then we took a left to go near the beach. I was comparing the scenery to what this road looks like in waking life. I remember being like, “Wow, look at the sky!!! It’s so vivid!!!”

Some loud music started playing. It was probably a dream-original song. Like in waking life, the bend in the road came up. The driver must have sped up to 100 MPH. I was kind of scared but it felt like a roller coaster.

I had a false awakening next, of trying to dream journal. The music from the dream was still playing. I figured I must have left the music playing some how and it influenced my dream. But I couldn't turn off the music. My phone kept messing with me.

I struggled with it and eventually had another similar false awakening.

Next I had ANOTHER false awakening only this time, I went to my dream journal in my phone... And the entry was already written! That kind of surprised me. But I was relieved. “Well, I guess it’s all done then,” I thought.

I had another false awakening or two of just laying in bed, thinking of the dream.

The next round of dreams started off with my drilling something.

There was a big green caterpillar carrying a small yellow caterpillar across my pillow.

In the fifth round of dreams I also got lucid in the beginning. I was in a big room. I told the boss guy I would jump across the entire room. It was to prove something or maybe be put in charge, not sure.

There was some more surreal stuff. 3 bears were in a bed. I helped the daughter bear get her tooth brush because it was too high up. Then their bed flooded.

Overall a very interesting night of dreams. I also had a nap the following day which was a bonus.